

Welcome to Imperial College London – I would like to offer our sincere thanks to you for choosing to further your career here.

You are joining a great university with a longstanding commitment to excellence and innovation.

At Imperial, leadership in research and education is combined with a collaborative spirit and global connections.
You will be working in a stimulating environment where people make research discoveries which advance knowledge and improve society, and students from across the world are taught to be independent thinkers.

Integral to our success is our international, diverse,
and talented staff community – a community which you have now strengthened.

I hope you will find in this community kindred spirits who share your desire to gain new knowledge and ideas, and who will support you to develop your skills and pursue work that interests you.

Above all, I wish you every success and hope, like me, you will find Imperial an inspiring place to work.

With all best wishes,
