

Support Staff Summer Party

Huge thank you to the Support Staff Social Committee for an amazing cowboy-themed Support Staff Summer Party. It makes such a difference to have a big old afternoon of fun and food and cider and it was lovely to meet people from different teams and departments.

Being User Services folk, we tried a bit of everything, from the bucking bronco (30 sec – yes!) to the stagecoach photo booth to the bungee run. We really got into the User Services milking game, which drew out the cowboy spirit in each of us. We fought valiantly to milk Daisy but the medics took the crown.

The food was delicious, whether you went for a burger, a fajita or some churros with melted chocolate, and we even got a rudimentary bartering system rigged up for those who preferred drinks to ice creams and vice versa. Very Badlands.

The sun shone, the stetsons were donned and the singers got their Shania on. As we rode off into the sunset (some of us a little over-churroed), we were a pretty happy posse.

Thank you to everyone who helped organise such a massive event, and thank you to all the volunteers covering the different stands and games.

As Dolly Parton once said, “I have surrounded myself with very smart people. “
