TYPES OF ACCOMMODATION

Use our handy chart to figure out which type of property is right for you.

HALLS OF RESIDENCE

Staying on in a halls of residence is a popular choice, offering a sense of familiarity but with more independence than the first-year experience. Imperial offers accommodation in one hall for continuing students, however there are also plenty of private hall providers offering a range of room types and facilities.

Imperial Halls - Evelyn Gardens

Staying on in College accommodation for another year could be a great transitional option.

Visit our returning students accommodation page for further information.

Private Halls

Private Halls can be a good option for you if you enjoyed living in halls of residence in first year and want to carry on living in a student halls environment. Many private hall providers have common and study spaces where you can engage with other students.

Utilities and internet are typically included in the rent however the overall cost can be more expensive than flat shares. Be aware that private halls typically offer 51 week contracts and be sure to check if there are cancellation policies before signing a contract.

There are plenty of private hall providers in London.

Visit our Private Halls page to find our more information about the agents that advertise with us: bit.ly/private-halls

LIVING WITH A RESIDENT LANDLORD / BECOMING A LODGER

Landlords may advertise rooms in a property they are residing in. This option may be less expensive as some landlords will charge less rent or bills may be included.

Be aware, as landlords are residing in the property they may enforce house rules so be sure to check this before signing a contract. If house rules are agreed upon it is advised that you confirm these in writing.