Abstract

Preparations for the London 2012 Games are under way. The logistical challenges of moving thousands of spectators and athletes while keeping London moving have prompted a coordinated response from the Olympic Delivery Authority and the five Olympic London boroughs, with a strong emphasis on legacy and a commitment to 100% public transport use.

The aim of this lecture is to provide an understanding of the core Olympic transport initiatives and how they will help re-shape East London's public transport map.
